

Hevik HUW01 and HUW02
base layers, from £30.25

Sizes: S-XXL

Hevik, a newcomer to the UK scene, has released these base layers that are designed to keep the rider dry and comfortable. Like most base layers, the Italian brand is designed to be worn tight and also have no seams, which boosts comfort further. They're made from a synthetic material that combines Lycra with carbon-fibre, Dryarn and polyamide. Dryarn doesn't absorb moisture and promises insulation against both heat and cold. It claims to perform better than wool. The carbon fibres are there to strengthen the material and help avoid build-up of static electricity. The shirt layers are £37.41 and the trousers are £30.25.
